HEATING PLANT FRANCHISE GIVEN

After Discussion By Council, Citizens and the Company.

NEW LIGHT CONTRACT READ

It Provides for All Night Lighting — Ordinances Permitting Paving for This Year and Next.

The first regular session of council in six weeks was held Tuesday evening, but Coshocton's legislature made up on that occasion for every minute of lost time. The session began before eight o'clock, and it was almost midnight when the vote for adjournment was taken.

The principal business enacted was the granting of a franchise to the Merchants' Electric Light & Power company by which it can lay pipes in all streets, alleys and other public places for the purpose of heating residences and public buildings with steam or hot water Mr. Rinner voted against the grant.

A number of ordinances providing for paving were passed, and a large amount of miscellaneous business was disposed of. The bill of C. A. McNary for that Walnut street trough was paid, but Contractor John Hall's claim for $1700 as the first estimate on South Seventh was laid on the table.

THE HEATING FRANCHISE

Occupied the Greater Part of the Long Session.

The important feature of the meeting was the application of the electric light company for a franchise to distribute heat in the city. Mr. Meek, Mr. Baker, Mr. Burns, Mr. Brendel and Mr. Gray, who are not interested in the company but who are anxious to become its customers when the plant is installed, were interested spectators in the lobby. W. A. Himebaugh, secretary of the company, C. B. McCoy, its president, and C. F. Gosser, vice president and member of the board of directors, were present.

Clerk Wagner read the ordinance. It grants the Merchants' Electric Light & Power company the right for 25 years to lay and maintain pipes in all the public places of the city for the purpose of furnishing heat by hot water and steam. The pipes are to be laid under the supervision of the city engineer, and are not to interfere with the flow of surface water, sewers or other pipes already in the ground, and streets are to be put in as good condition as before the pipes were put down. All debris is to be cleared away and work is to be commenced within sixty days and completed within ten months from the acceptance of the franchise. The price to be charged is not to exceed 20 cents per square foot of radiation per year.

Mr. Himebaugh explained the application. "I am not here, gentlemen," he said, "to make an argument for the ordinance, but there are interested citizens who will do that, but in behalf of the company I will say that certain citizens have come to us and petitioned us to install a heating system in connection with our electric light works. I will read you the list of names: J. P. Forbes, C. B. Hunt, George M. Gray and M. Q. Baker, E. O. Selby, William Burns, while the Park hotel and Grace M. E. church want the service. A number of others desire it, and I believe you have before you a petition signed by every member of the board of education asking you to favor this project as they desire to use it in the public school buildings

"I will be frank with you in this matter. The reason they ask us to put in the system is because we are in position to do it. In generating electricity we produce a large amount of exhaust steam which can be used for this purpose. If an individual plant were built for this proposed system heat could not be produced at a reasonable price. There are only a few such plants in Ohio, and therefore it is reasonable to suppose that it is not a great money making venture.

"We told these citizens who applied to us that in order to make an investment of this kind we must have a longer lease on life. We could not afford to invest $75,000 in this project with only a little over two years of our lighting contract left. But we feel that if council will enter into an agreement to extend our lighting contract we will be willing to invest this money and put in a heating plant."

"About what sort of a light franchise does the company expect from council?" interrupted Mr. Brooke.

"We think our contract should be extended six years at $70 a light, or that a new contract be made for six years at $75 a light. If we get the extension to ten years we are willing to give up our present contract and provide all night lighting," replied Mr. Himebaugh.

Mr. Rinner asked, "What does radiation mean in connection with this heating?"

"It means 20 cents a year for every square foot of exposed radiating surface," said Mr. Himebaugh, and Mr. Payne, the engineer of the construction company who will put in the plant, explained it in detail.

"How far is this system to extend? How much time do you want to supply everybody? When do you expect to get it down to my house or Mr. Stewart's," asked Mr. Rinner in quick succession.

"The contract we propose to make provides that we will go wherever we can get business."

"Well, then, Mr. Himebaugh, you won't put in this plant unless you get the new light contract?"

"You are right. We would not put this system in unless we get the new contract for light. It will not pay as an independent venture but I am not here to argue on that line. These property owners and business men inaugurated the movement and are here to argue for it."

Mayor Cassingham called on Mr. Meek and he said:

"I would like to see the heating plant installed as it certainly would be a great convenience to Coshocton It would be a comfort to set one's thermostat at 70 degrees in the fall and leave your house remain at that temperature throughout the winter without carrying coal. If we can get this without it being a detriment to anybody I believe it is a good thing, and I don't see how it will be detrimental to the interests of anyone. It would be especially beneficial if put in the public schools. Its convenience, economy and the benefits arising from a sanitary point would be inestimable. When there is no one to suffer I think council is justified in granting this franchise. I am on record as being opposed to a lighting contract for ten years, and but I can see no harm in giving an extension of the existing contract. I can readily see that no company would be justified in investing the money for a heating plant if their light contract was taken away. In this instance I believe council is justified in granting the franchise for the heating plant and in extending the light contract."

"You were on the committee, Mr. Meek, that investigated the light question a few years ago. what did you find the average cost per light to be?" asad Mr. Timmons.

"I am not sure. I think it was $78 and we recommended that Coshocton pay $80."

"Is this up to council?" asked Mr. Rinner.

"I believe so," replied the mayor, and Mr. Rinner arose to make a speech.

"This may be all right and the prices may be right," he said, "but I don't know. I don't know anything about it. If it could be of general utility it would be a good thing. I understand they want an answer tonight. It is too short a time for this is a momentous affair. This company say they will invest $75,000. They must have an income of $15.000 a year to make it pay, or something like that. And not knowing anything about it, only speaking for myself, I don't think we have had time to investigate. Still there are other points to be considered. It will affect the fellows who haul coal and throw miners out of employment. That is what killed the natural gas, and it would have been more generally used. But that's a minor matter. We have gone through this light business. We know how we feel on that. But on this heating we are not ready to act."

"This plan of heating a town from a central station first came to my attention about three months ago," said Mr. Stewart. "My curiosity was aroused and I investigated. I was personally acquainted with a party who had used it and he spoke highly of the uniform heat and said its use had become very general. I met some of our business men a few months ago who were talking about it, but it was not until yesterday I learned that the project was really in their hands. I believe it is a good movement and the community will feel better for having it. The time is here for us to advance and take advantage of these good things. I believe we are safe in taking it up, for it is the only heat for schools and would consequently benefit the health of our children. I have always longed for all night lighting. I am on record against a ten year contract, but the price asked here comes up to my standard on an extension. I do not believe $70 is too much. As to investigating the heating proposition, I do not think two weeks will delay the matter much and then we can come here prepared to vote more intelligently."

"Mr. Stewart has voiced my sentiments," said Mr. Timmons. "This system of heating came to my attention three years ago through a friend in Toledo. He told me they heated an ordinary house for about $50 a year and with a uniform heat. His family could leave the house for six weeks in winter, and upon their return would find it at the same temperature. The details of the light question are familiar to all of us. I am satisfied with the price quoted for all night lighting and I think we ought to have it."

Mr. Brooke offered a few characteristic remarks in which he expressed his opposition to an extension of the contract at any price.

Doctor McNaughton moved the rules be suspended and the ordinance granting the franchise passed to its second reading. Mr. Timmons seconded, and all voted in its favor except Mr. Rinner who voted no.

After Clerk Wagner had read it again Mr. Stewart moved it go to the third reading. Dr. McNaughton seconded but the motion was lost Brooke joining Rinner and also voting no. That prevented the passage of the ordinance under suspension.

Clerk Wagner then read the lighting contract as submitted by the company. It provides for 113 lights and such other lights as council may order, to burn all dark hours of every night. The resolution accompanying the contract provides that the company shall maintain a plant for lighting between Oct. 5, 1901 and April 5, 1910; light is to be provided during the dark hours of every night except when there is sufficient light from the moon: deductions are to be made in the bill for failure to provide light, the amount to be doubled if it extends over ten days; lights are to be equal in power and brilliancy to what is provided at present, and the rate is to be $70 for each light, payable monthly. Changes in location are to be made at actual cost and lights are to stand 18 feet above the street.

Mr. Timmons moved the rules be suspended and the resolution passed to its second reading. Dr. McNaughton seconded the motion, and Brooke and Rinner voted against it.

It was late and council was tired. A recess was taken by general consent, and a number of the gentlemen who want heat in their business buildings presented the matter to Brooke and Rinner. Mr. Burns, clerk of the board of education and the owner of the Burns building, endeavored to show Rinner that he was obstructing a public improvement.

"Well I won't vote for it," said Rinner and he was left to himself.

At length Mr. Brooke declared he would not vote for the light contract, but he would vote for the heating franchise. A motion to reconsider the motion to place it on its third reading was presented by Doctor McNaughton and seconded by Mr. Timmons. It passed, and by the motion of Mr. Timmons and Mr. Barcroft was advanced another step.

"It is up to council. If you want to pass it let's have a motion." said the mayor. Mr. Stewart made the motion and the heating franchise was granted, Mr. Rinner voting no.

PAVING ORDINANCES.

Other Business Transacted and Questions Discussed.

The ordinance to pave South Seventh between Main and Walnut passed, as did the sewer ordinances for Chestnut and Main and the paving ordinance for Chestnut. Main street was held over because council did not know the width of the paving.

R. N. Kirk asked that curbing be set on South Second to the residence of John Shaw and it was referred to street committee with power to act.

The Locust street sewer resolution went through under suspension and the resolution providing for the improvement of Bridge street to the Tuscarawas went the same road, Mr. Timmons voting no.

The Cherry paving ordinance was given one reading, and an ordinance to pave the alley between Second and Third from Main to Chestnut, 19 feet wide, was passed.

It was decided to have street committee construct a sewer in South Seventh from Orange to Walnut as the location of the storm sewer will not allow connection with the sanitary sewer.

Mud holes on Cherry and South Ninth were discussed, and Commissioner Finnel was given a bad 15 minutes for not being present to give council desired information.

Health Officer Foster presented the request of the board of health that council provide a dumping ground, and the matter was discussed at length. A number of plans were discussed, but it finally went over to the next meeting.

The bill of C. A. McNary, $19.79, for putting in place the Walnut street trough was explained at length by Mr. McNary. Mr. Barcroft objected to the payment of the bill on the ground that it was exhorbitant. He recalled how he had seen workmen loafing when they were supposed to be working, and said council did not pay men for resting. Other members opposed payment and Mr. McNary explained again.

"Well, maybe it is as Charley says, they have to do it to keep up," finally said Mr. Barcroft, and in the laughter that followed the bill was paid.

Contractor John Hall presented the first estimate for the work on South Seventh, $1,700, but was informed that the money could not be paid until the contract had been signed and the bonds delivered, but neither of these had been done. He said the street would be cleaned and put in good condition for the fair next week.

The assessing board for Walnut and Cambridge were awarded $60, and $30 was given the Chestnut board.

Chief Lynde, of the fire department, asked council to give the customary $100 to pay the expenses of delegates to the firemen's convention. It was voted, and council adjourned at 11:45 o'clock.

A GRACEFUL REQUEST.

Mr. Williams Only Wants the Cans When They Are Empty.

S. M. Williams is generous. The other night some thief entered the cellar at his residence on Chestnut and carried away several dozen cans of fruit. Mr. Williams has made no attempt to catch the thief, but he would like to have those self-sealing cans. He therefore requests that when their contents have been used the individual in whose possession they are will return them. He is not particular that they be replaced in the cellar, but if it is a convenience to the thief he will be satisfied if they are dumped over the fence in the back yard. All Mr. Williams asks is another look at the cans.

NEW HEATING SYSTEM

Hot Water From a Central Station to Supply the Town.

EXPLANATION OF THE SYSTEM

The Contract Let Today for the Construction of Such a Plant in Coshocton Before December 1.

In Greater Coshocton's rapid march of progress, a hot water heating plant from a central station will be one of the added improvements. It is estimated that the cost of the plant will be from $70,000 to $75,000. It will be put in by the Merchants' Electric Light & Power company, using their present generating plant as a central station. Mains will be laid under ground for conducting the hot water over town. The water will be heated at the plant by the exhaust steam from the engines that run the dynamos, and large steam pumps at the station will force the hot water through the mains. The system is similar to the ordinary water works, differing in that there is a return circuit by which the cooled water returns to the plant to be again heated.

The cost to the consumer does not differ much from fuel bills, but it is infinitely better and more convenient than any other means of heating, keeping the temperature always uniform, without any attention on the part of the consumer, always avoiding smoke and dirt about the premises.

The Electric Light company investigated hot water heating from a central station for more than a year and became convinced of its feasibility, but intended to let the project rest until next year, partly owing to the lateness of the season and the length of time necessary to install a plant. But a number of leading business men and property owners urged that the plant be installed this fall, so they could receive its benefits this winter, and petitioned the company to take such steps immediately.

A hot water heating plant can only be operated successfully as an adjunct to an electric light plant, to utilize the exhaust steam. The contract for street lighting in Coshocton expires two years from next April. The company was confronted with the folly of expending $75,000 for a heating plant, as a by-product of the electric plant, when the company has only two years' lease of life remaining for the principal electric business, consequently the company would not be warranted in making so large an investment for a heating plant without an extension of contract for street lighting. Accordingly, a majority of the council immediately saw the wisdom of extending the street lighting contract, so as so make possible so valuable an addition to Coshocton's public improvements, the desirability of a heating plant being universally conceded.

Coshocton has been paying $68 a year for street lighting until one o'clock. The company had offered to give all night lighting for $70 a year with a ten year contract. In order to get immediate action so as to build the heating plant yet this fall, the company yielded to a compromise in the term of years, modifying the ten year proposition to an extension of six years. Except for the expected profits of the heating business, the company would not have made this concession. As it is Coshocton will get all-night lighting for only $2 per year per light more than is now paid. The city now pays for 100 lights, which means that under the new arrangement the total cost for all-night lighting will be only $200 a year more than is now paid for one o'clock lighting. When there was much discussion about a lighting contract four years ago, the citizens' investigating committee found that $80 was the average price over Ohio for all-night lighting, and recommended that would be a fair price for Cosbocton. The price fixed last night for all-night lighting is $70. The leading business men and heaviest taxpayers of Coshocton, including a majority of the citizens' investigating committee of four years ago, urged the councilmen to the action that was taken last night. The lighting contract passed first reading last night by the votes of Stewart, McNaughton, Barcroft and Timmons. Rinner and Brooke were opposed.

With the moral assurance of two-thirds of the councilmen that the contract will be consummated at subsequent readings, the directors of the company held a meeting today and entered into a contract with a Chicago concern for the construction of the plant. Work will begin at once and the contractor guarantees to have the plant in operation by December 1. Experts will be be sent here to superintend the work and about 100 home laborers will be employed.

Election Board Did Not Divide the Township at the Advertised Time.

The election board did not divide Tuscarawas township into six voting precincts Monday afternoon according to its published advertisement. One member of the board was absent, and it was decided to postpone action until this evening when another meeting will be held.

MANILLA HEMP CASE

Prominent Officials Mentioned In the Investigation.

HOW THE STOCK WAS APPORTIONED

According to the Story Told by Major Hawkes Before the Senate Committee on Military Affairs—Colombian Minister Receives a Reassuring Dispatch—News of Washington.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The senate committee on military affairs resumed its hearing of the charges against Lieutenant Colonel H. O. S. Heistand. Major Hawkes, continuing his testimony, asked that Colonel Heistand produce a memorandum made in May, 1899, by the colonel and himself, in which $150,000 of the promoters' stock of the Manilla Rope company was apportioned. Hawkes said his recollection was that he and Heistand, by the terms of the memorandum, were to have $40,000 of the stock and that General Corbin, George D. Meiklejohn, Charles H. Allen, James E. Boyd, W. W. Dudley and L. T. Michener were to receive the remainder in portions. Counsel for Heistand said his client had no knowledge of such a document.

Only Heistand and Hawkes were present when the apportionment was made. Hawkes added that no testimony he should give would connect Corbin, Meiklejohn, Allen or Boyd personally with the transaction. Hawkes detailed a conversation with Heistand in October, 1899, in which Heistand told him that Corbin and Allen were out of the combination, and that Meiklejohn had asked for the return of Hawkes' letter of introduction. It was given to Heistand. Hawkes said Heistand suggested he did not accede to that proposition.

Major Hawkes gave the details of his trip to the Philippines and his return after his appointment was revoked. He saw Secretary Root, but the committee would not permit him to tell anything of what passed between them, holding that Secretary Root was not involved in the case.

Invaders Repulsed.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The following cablegram was received at the Colombian legation in this city, from the minister of foreign affairs at Bogota: "We have obtained a signal victory over Venezuelan troops that invaded Goajira, under Venezuelan officers and under the Venezuelan flag, without a previous declaration of war." Some uncertainty exists in the minds of the officials of the legation as to whether this victory over the Venezuelans is identical with that heretofore reported by way of Curacao in the press dispatches, or is another fight. Dr. Silva, the minister, is inclined to the former opinion. The officials feel very much gratified over the advices. Some stress is laid on the statement that this invasion was without a previous declaration of war on Venezuela's part. This, Dr. Silva says, shows the irregularity of the course the latter country has taken.

Jordan Almond Secured.

Washington, Oct. 2. — The department of agriculture finally has succeeded in securing the Jordan almond, exportation of which has been rigorously prohibited by Spain for some years, and this government will now experiment with it to determine the best localities for growing it. This species of almond is regarded by the agricultural authorities as the finest in the world.

Public Debt.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business Sept. 30, 1901, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,031,534,365, a decrease for the month of $4,225,402.

BATTLE OF SANTIAGO

Events and Incidents Threshed Over by New Witnesses.

ESSENCE OF TESTIMONY OFFERED.

Captain Sigsbee Adds His Mite to the Volume of Evidence Introduced. Admiral Evans Closely Cross-Examined—Story of a Newspaper Correspondent and Other Features.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Three new witnesses offered testimony in the Schley court of inquiry and Admiral Evans concluded. The new men were Captain Sigsbee, who commanded the scout ship St. Paul during the Santiago campaign; Mr. Thomas M. Dienaide, a newspaper correspondent who was on the Texas during the battle of July 3, and Chief Yeoman Gustave E. Becker, who was a clerk to Admiral Sampson during the war. Becker testified as to dispatches sent to Commodore Schley by Admiral Sampson.

Mr. Dienaide, a newspaper correspondent, testified that he was on board the battleship Texas during the battle. He saw the Brooklyn soon after the battle began. She was going seaward at right angles to the Texas. At 9:50, he said, the order by Captain Philip was given to "stop both engines, helm hard starboard." Saw the Brooklyn in front of the Texas. Made a note of it at the time; thought it was a close shave. Saw Captain Philip wave his hand toward the Brooklyn and heard him say, "Look at that fellow going out to sea." Did not hear Captain Philip give order to back the engines; might and might not have heard it if he did. Admiral Dewey: "You seem to have heard everything else."

Captain Charles D. Sigsbee, who commanded the scout ship St. Paul during the Spanish war, was next called. He fell in with the flying squadron on the evening of May 26, the squadron then being 20 or 25 miles south of Santiago. He had reported to Commodore Schley that he "knew nothing positively" about the Spanish fleet. He had first seen the Spanish vessels in the harbor at Santiago, but when he reported the fact he found the squadron had already made the discovery. Witness said the sea was heavy on the afternoon and evening of May 26, and would say it would have been a very difficult job to have coaled from ships alongside that night. Could not remember of having received a dispatch from the navy department on May 20, 1898, relative to the sighting of the Spanish fleet at Santiago.

Interrogated by Mr. Raynor, Admiral Evans said that when Captain Chadwick communicated the signal code to him he did not instruct him to give the information to Commodore Schley. The admiral denied saying to Commodore Schley on July 4, 1898, that "Captain Philip of the Texas started to run away at the beginning of the battle," but admitted discussing the position of the Texas with Commodore Schley on the day. Witness also denied using the following language on the same day: "I shot the bow off the Pluton, the stern off the Furor, put my helm to starboard and raked the Teresa and knocked out the Viscaya." Witness also held that no plan of battle had been arranged by Comodore Schley.

Story of the Fluke.

New York, Oct. 2.—The attempt to sail the second of the present series of the international yacht races for the blue ribbon of the sea proved a dismal failure. Between 25,000 and 30,000 people who crowded the pleasure fleet off Sandy Hook lightship in the hope of seeing a repetition of the thrilling sport of Saturday last witnessed, instead, more of a drifting match than a race. The wind was exceedingly light and variable. At the end of four and a half hours the yachts had covered less than one-half of the prescribed course of 30 miles, and as there was no possibility of their finishing within the time limit the regatta committee declared the race off. When the gun was fired announcing this direction the challenger was about half a mile ahead of the defender, and to that extent the trial was a victory for Shamrock II. The next race will be sailed Thursday.

General Alexander Weds.

Hagerstown, Md., Oct. 2.—Miss Mary Landon Mason and General E. P. Alexander, of South Carolina, were married at the residence of the bride in this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Evan Cotton, rector of St. John's Episcopal church. General and Mrs. Alexander will reside on South Island, South Carolina, which is owned by the groom and contains large plantations. General Alexander is a distinguished ex-Confederate officer, having served through the civil war as chief of artillery on the staff of General Lee.

Quite a Blaze.

Clarinda, Ia., Oct. 2.—Half of the business part of Braddyville was destroyed by fire. Among the burned buildings were Worley's restaurant, White's dry goods store, the postoffice, Fine & Maxwell's hardware store, Holton & Gray's hardware store, Mrs. Davison's millinery store and dwelling. The Times printing office and the bank. Estimated loss $60,000.

Want Pitcher Lee.

Kansas City, Oct. 2.—Pitcher Dale Gear of the Washington American league club, who returned to Kansas City, is authority for the statement that the Pittsburg National league club offered President Manning $4,600 for Pitcher Wyatt Lee. Lee has signed with Washington for next season.

Estate to Be Sold.

Milwaukee, Oct. 2.—The Hadfield estate, consisting of the famous stone quarries near Waukesha and a square mile of land near the Fountain House, in addition to some 30 houses and lots in that city and a theater in Portage, Wis., all of which is valued at nearly $300,000, will be sold at auction in Waukesha on Oct. 19. The order was issued by Judge Dick of the circuit court of Waukesha county, at the instigation of creditors. The property has been in the hands of an assignee for several years and has been the product of much litigation.

Agrarians Incensed.

Berlin, Oct. 2.—The agrarians are much incensed at the following remarks, which, according to the Berliner Tageblatt, were made by one of the speakers at the banquet of the Handelstag or commercial congress: "It is well that we have, over against the conflicting views regarding the tariff bill, a strong monarchical power which knows no special interest, but only the interests of the fatherland. The existing commercial treaties show the strong initiative of the kaiser, and it is hoped that his majesty will now understand how to provide for the country's interest." The Kreuz Zeitung, which says it considers this "tugging of the kaiser into party conflicts" a serious abuse, warns partisans against carrying the practice to a dangerous point.

Ireland's Welcome to the King.

Dublin, Oct. 2.—At the meeting of the United Irish league in Dublin, the lord mayor of Dublin presiding, a letter of apology for absence was read from William O'Brien, M. P., who expressed a hope that "if the king visits Ireland next year the league will arouse a spirit which will convince his majesty that he has come among a people discontented and disaffected to the core, only needing arms and training of the Boers to testify to their hatred of England's rule, with an eloquence equal to that of the unconquered South African republics."

Deplorable Condition.

Constantinople, Oct. 2.—The reports received at all the embassies and legations here from consuls in the provinces depict a situation everywhere so deplorable that an ambassadorial conference and collective action are contemplated.

Broker Expelled.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—J. F. Blessing, of St. Louis, was expelled from the Chicago board of trade by the board of directors on charges of conducting a "bucket shop" brokerage business in St. Louis. Blessing was a member of the firm of Gaylord, Blessing & Co.

From Corn to Wheat.

Salina, Kan., Oct. 2.—Many Kansas farmers are changing their acreage from corn to wheat because of this year's poor corn crop, and in some sections the change is so great that local papers say the farmers have gone "wheat crazy."

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

General Conference Opens at Frisco With a Large Attendance.

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—The general conference of the Episcopal church opened with impressive ceremonies in Trinity church, where the main convention is to be held. The convention will continue in session for 19 days, with various meetings. Prominent among the delegates who arrived were J. P. Morgan, Bishop Potter and a party of eastern bishops and laymen, the guests of Mr. Morgan. The convention will be largely attended. Ninety bishops, 400 clergymen and 2,500 laymen are expected. Many important questions are scheduled for consideration. Foremost among them are the final acceptance of the constitution drafted by the convention at Washington in 1898 and since carefully scrutinized by every diocese in the country; the canons, or laws of the church; the special report on the canon on marriage and divorce, as understood by the Episcopal church, and the church's course toward Porto Rico, Philippines, Hawaii and Cuba.

New Jersey Democrats.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 2.—Mayor James M. Seymour of Newark was nominated on the second ballot as the Democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey in a convention that at times was turbulent in the extreme, but which for all that was free from displays of ill-temper. State Chairman William Gourley was permanent chairman of the convention. The first voting showed that the Seymour and anti-Seymour forces were almost evenly divided, and had the anti-Seymour leaders been able to concentrate their vote on a single candidate they might have won. However, there was a strong undercurrent among the delegates for Seymour, and it was only through the generalship of the leaders of the anti-Seymour forces that the latter were kept on the line. The nomination of Mayor Seymour was a defeat for former United States Senator Smith and his forces.

Seventeen Victims.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 2.—Seventeen men are dead as a result of the fire in extension mine No. 2, belonging to the Wellington Colliery company. The flames started from a curtain which caught fire from a miner's lamp. While the rescuers were at work several explosions occurred. When it was realized that the men could not be saved a strong force started to choke the mine, but their work was undone by a terrific explosion, which blew down the barricade.

Barbers Meet.

Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 2.—The Journeymen Barbers' National union began its triennial convention here and will remain in session all week. Three years ago at Nashville, the largest previous convention, the delegates numbered 103. Mayor Baum welcomed the delegates and President Jacob Fisher of Anderson, Ind., responded. After the appointment of a credentials committee the convention went into a memorial service for dead brothers.

THE CHARM OF LIFE

Is Lost When the Burden is Too Heavy.

Life is hardly worth the living with the never-ceasing aches and pains of a bad back. If you would remove the burden of backache, reach the cause—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure sick kidneys, and the cure is lasting. Here is proof of it.

Mr. Geo. Hosier, of 518 So. Walnut St., engineer at the Troy Buggy Works, Troy, O., says: "In a statement given by me for publication in 1896, I said I was a pronounced sufferer from kidney complaint for several years, that I took cold very easily, and it always settled in my kidneys and aggravated the complaint; that I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store, and that they greatly benefited me. It is now over three years since I made that public statement, and although I am unable to say that Doan's Kidney Pills radically cured me, I emphatically declare that no remedy which has ever come to my notice gives me such relief from attacks, and no remedy I ever heard of acts up to the representation made for it like Doan's Kidney Pills act up to theirs."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

Strike Settled.

Boston, Oct. 2.—The expressmen's strike has been settled, the 200 drivers', helpers and lumpers will return to work and the sympathetic strike of 2,000 men comprising the Allied Trades' Unions, which was threatened to go into effect is thereby averted. Under the terms of the agreement between the men and the executive committee of the Allied Council the cases of the three men discharged by the Boston Dispatch-Express company are to be heard by the state board of arbitration within three weeks.

Harrison Monument.

Indianapolis, Oct. 2.—At a meeting of the Benjamin Harrison Monument association at the University club, Senator Fairbanks presided. General Foster, ex-secretary of state, spoke. He said the monument would be of national interest and Washington would be glad to have it erected there, but its location in Indianapolis would not prevent large subscriptions from eastern cities. Judge Foster will bring the matter before the State Bar association and Hugh Doherty, of Bluffton, before the State Bankers' association.

Will Resist the Lynchers.

Van Buren, Ark., Oct. 2.—This city is in a state of subdued excitement over an authentic report that a mob had been formed a few miles north of here and proposes to take Kit Helton, who, it is alleged, killed his wife and wounded Justice of the Peace Robert O'Kelly, from jail and hang him. The report came to the sheriff from what he considers a reliable source. Sheriff Pitcock has a strong guard at the jail and expresses a determination not to give up prisoner.

Confession Repudiated.

DeSoto, Mo., Oct. 2.—The confession of W. M. Greenhill that he and his brother Daniel murdered his sister, Mrs. Sadie Uren and John Maloy, is repudiated by Daniel Greenhill, who says his brother is weak-minded. Caleb Andrews, who was held as an accessory to the murder, has been admitted to bond, he being practically exonerated in William Greenhill's confession of actual participation in the crime.

Equalization Board's Decision.

Columbus, O., Oct. 2.—The state board of equalization of railroad property settled the question of its authority to change the aggregate valuation of railroad property, as returned by county auditors. The board decided unanimously that it has no right materially to change the aggregate total valuation. Tom L. Johnson will doubtless go into court at once to test the validity of the decision reached.

He was entertained by a drive and left later for Boston.

A Name Twice Made Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medicines of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as the author of the world famed Dr. Chase's Receipe Book and family physician, and whose fame is now doubly increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, with Nerve, Brain and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials "A. W."

They imitate, but dare not counterfeit the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, which identifies the Nerve Pills now recognized as infallible for building up pale, weak, thin-blooded, nerve exhausted sufferers.

Who are nerve-tired and brain-weary.

NEW MATERIAL FOR WAR

The Latest Hotchkiss One Pounder Automatic Gun.

MOUNTINGS OF VARIOUS FORMS.

Piece Weighs About 374 Pounds and Fires a Projectile Weighing One Pound With a Muzzle Velocity of 1,640 Feet Seconds—Consists of Thirty-three Component Parts.

The one pounder automatic machine gun is based on the same principle as that of the well known Hotchkiss rifle caliber machine gun, but the details of the mechanism have been greatly modified in order to simplify the construction and strengthen the breech closure, says the New York Sun. The gun consists of thirty-three component parts, of which fifteen comprise the operating mechanism. In these latter are contained no screws or pins and only three springs, of which one alone is essential to the working of the gun. All the motions of the mechanism are parallel to the axis of the gun, and therefore the accuracy of fire is not affected by the vibrations. The entire mechanism may be dismounted or assembled in about thirty seconds without the use of tools and has been so designed and simplified that it may be operated and cared for by any man of ordinary intelligence.

The firing gear is arranged for firing single shots or continuously at will, the rate of fire in the latter case attaining 200 rounds per minute. The gun is loaded by means of feed strips holding eight or ten rounds or by belts of twenty-five or fifty pounds. The rate of fire is the same for both methods of loading. Both strips and belts are made wholly of mild steel and may be employed indefinitely without reforming and, being entirely metallic, are not affected by water and climatic conditions. The feed mechanism is independent of gravity and is not influenced by the elevation or depression of the piece.

The cartridges are not fed into the chamber until the instant of firing and consequently are not subjected to excessive temperature in case the firing is suspended with the gun loaded. The barrel is fitted with a radiator which absorbs a great portion of the heat developed by the powder and obviates the necessity of a water jacket.

The principle of action may be stated briefly thus: A gas port is drilled into the barrel of the gun a few calibers from the muzzle and brings the bore into communication with a cylinder parallel to and beneath it. Within the cylinder is a piston, and when on the discharge of the gun the projectile passes beyond the gas port the powder gas enters the cylinder and throws the piston to the rear. The rearward motion of the piston compresses the main spring, and this, when not prevented by the trigger, immediately returns the piston to its original position. The remaining parts of the mechanism are actuated by this reciprocating piston and perform the operation of opening and closing the breech, extraction and ejection of the empty cartridge case, feeding, loading and firing.

The gun, weighing about 374 pounds, has a bore of 1.46 inches and fires a projectile weighing one pound with a muzzle velocity of 1,640 foot seconds. The cartridges are normally loaded with a charge of forty grams of French smokeless powder with an igniter of two grams.

The mountings are of various forms—for naval deck, boat, masthead, landing, field, barbette and casemate. In field operations the role of the one pounder gun is intermediate between that of field artillery and machine guns. For this reason an equipment of great mobility is required together with provision for carrying a large quantity of ammunition.

The weight behind the gun team is 2,222 pounds, and that of the caisson fully equipped is 2,420 pounds. The limber carries 288 pounds and the caisson 576.

This piece represents the latest improvements in gun construction and is a type of the automatic gun of medium caliber with all its mechanism perfected to the present state of our knowledge of the subject.

American Watches Gaining.

"The American watchmaker is slowly forging ahead of the Swiss," said Theodore Bossard, junior member of the Bossard jewelry and watch manufacturing firm in Lucerne, Switzerland, the other day to a reporter of the New York Tribune. Mr. Bossard is now in New York city, having completed a year of study and investigation of the different watch factories of the United States. Continuing, Mr Bossard said:

"It was not many years ago that the jewelry stores of Switzerland were filled each summer with American travelers who wanted to buy Swiss watches. There was also a large export trade in this line of manufacturing. At the present time the demand for Swiss watches by American tourists has greatly decreased and only continues in the sale of old Swiss clocks, which are more prized for their carving than their machinery. The export trade, too, has considerably shrunk, due, we believe, to an increase in the American product."

The Greek government has secured a monopoly of the picture postal card business. It has just issued cards with sixty-four different views of famous cities and other scenes.

NEED MORE TROOPS.

South African Situation Disturbing the British Mind.

HAZE SURROUNDS WAR OPERATIONS.

Contest Enters Upon Its Third Year and the Government Is Now Being Pounded on All Sides—Pro-Boer Sentiment in Bermuda—Mystery Envelops Conditions In Natal.

London, Oct. 2.—Within two weeks the war in South Africa will have entered upon its third year and in the face or a recrudescence of organized operations by the Boers and of the impossibility of carrying out Mr. Brodrick's promise to reduce the war expenses by sending home some troops, the government organs are again becoming restless. There is a mystery surrounding the operations and the whole situation in Natal, and the denials and evasions of the war office concerning the alleged friction between Mr. Brodrick and Lord Kitchener, form the subject of editorial protests on all sides. "We have a right to expect," says the Standard, "that the government will lose no time in sending out such ample reinforcements as the military chiefs on the spot deem necessary."

The Daily Mail, which finds evidence that Lord Kitchener is in a difficult predicament and fears that the government is delaying reinforcement out of a desire to avoid summoning parliament to vote the necessary supplies, warns the government that if this be the case a grave risk is being run. Similar protests are made on all sides.

The Times, after reminding the government of the repeated blunders and miscalculations which cost the empire such a terrible price, says: "A third campaign has now opened in South Africa, and there is no sign that the government is doing anything to prepare for possibly the dragging out of the war for several months more. Already it is too late to provide such a mobile force as would be adequate this autumn. Is the government doing anything to provide it even three months hence, and if not, what possible excuse can the government urge for this neglect?"

Uneasiness In Bermuda.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Oct. 2.—The pro-Boers in Bermuda have been excelling themselves, the occasion being the escape of some prisoners of war, whom they made every effort to aid in their attempts to regain their freedom. Under cover of darkness and a rain storm three men, a nephew of the late Commandant Jaubert, Alfred Maximus Jaubert, and two brothers, George and Hendrick Indemur, made their escape from Darrels island, wended their way to the residence of Dr. Outerbridge at Bailey's bay and then repaired to a place of concealment in the neighborhood. All three were recaptured and lodged in the military prison at St. George's. The affair has created great excitement here, not merely because of the attempted escape, which is something to be anticipated at any time, but because of the apparent exhibition of pro-Boer spirit here.

Horses For the Boers?

New Orleans, Oct. 2.—The steamship European cleared for Cape Town with 1,100 horses.

Mrs. McKinley Better.

Canton, O., Oct. 2.—Dr. Rixey, Mrs. McKinley's physician, left Canton for Washington. In his absence she will be under the care of Doctors Phillips and Portman. Dr. Phillips has been for many years one of the family physicians of the late president and wife, and Dr. Portman has frequently been consulted by them. Dr. Rixey will be available at any time and will come to Canton, whenever his services are needed. The affairs of the late president have been found to be in excellent condition and considerable progress has already been made in the administration of his estate. Dr. Rixey said that Mrs. McKinley's condition is such that all her friends are very hopeful that no change for the worse will occur.

Rebels Active In China.

Kong Kong, Oct. 2.—Thousands of rebels, after sacking the German mission at Piang Thong, attacked Hin-Nan, a city near Canton. They were repulsed, but they attacked Shakma, where they were again repulsed. Two thousand Chinese troops have been sent to suppress them. Disorders have arisen in the Yang Tse provinces, owing to the ravages of the floods and the division of the relief funds by corrupt officials. These threaten to culminate in rebellion. The situation is very grave, and the local authorities have been ordered to raise troops and to place the districts in a state of defense.

Linemen's Strike Spreads.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—The strike of the telephone linemen has spread to the suburbs and outlying towns included in the toll service of the Chicago Telephone company. The linemen estimate the total number of strikers at 500. Among the towns included in the order were Elgin, Aurora, Joliet, Rockford, Evanston, LaGrange, Plainsfield, Lake Forest, Highland Park and Waukegan.

Convention Dissolved.

Havana, Oct. 2.—The constitutional convention has addressed a letter to Governor General Wood informing him that the changes which he suggested should be made in the election law have been made, and that the convention, deeming its work completed, is ready to dissolve. It is probable that General Wood in his reply will suggest a dissolution.

GHOSTS IN ENGLAND.

Mysterious Spirits and Potent Curses in English Families.

British elder sons are coming of age every day, and the fact is being celebrated by their relatives without its mattering much to the rest of the world, but the coming of age of the eldest son of Lord Powerscourt the other day is really deserving of notice. Two hundred years ago there was a Lord Powerscourt who kept state at Powerscourt House, Enniskerry, Ireland, and he was a proud man and cruel. It was in the days of the penal laws, and death was the portion of the obstinate papists. One day Lord Powerscourt was starting for the chase when a man was brought to him charged with being of the prohibited faith.

"What shall we do with him, your lordship?" asked the men who had captured the papist.

"Oh, hang him to the nearest tree," answered his lordship and rode away with his hounds, his hunting horns drowning the screams for mercy which were poured forth by the man's aged mother.

As his lordship directed so it was done, and the papist swung from a limb of the nearest tree. Then the murdered man's old mother fell on her knees before the doors of Powerscourt House and lifted up her voice in a terrible curse. She prayed that no Lord Powerscourt should live to see his heir or have any heir in the direct line.

The curse "took," and from that day until the young man who came of age the other day was born no Lord Powerscourt had a son or saw the relative who did inherit his title or property. Furthermore, it is alleged by the peasants that the marks of the old woman's knees remained in the turf where she knelt before the great doors of the hall until the present heir was born, when they gradually faded away and the grass grew green there once more after two centuries.

So, with the birth of Mervyn Wingfield, the young man in question, the curse is supposed to have been removed from the ancient house. Therefore, when he came of age and was in good health there was great rejoicing in the Powerscourt family, for however much one may deride such a story the fact of the curse having worked so long was enough to make even the hardest headed rather uncomfortable. However, young Wingfield has not succeeded his father as Lord Powerscourt yet, and the fates may be just fooling with the noble family.

Another uncanny matter which is just now the subject of some speculation is the ghost which the Duke of Cornwall and York has just bought with his new home, Houghton Hall, in Norfolk. Persons are wondering if the ghost will bother the royal couple when they take up their residence there on their return from their colonial tour, or will be loyal enough to leave the premises. The specter which is creating the disturbance is the ghost of Lady Dorothy Walpole, who was the wife of the Viscount Townshend. She divides her time between Houghton Hall, where she was born, and Raynham, the home of her husband. The ghostly lady makes her appearance at any time which suits her convenience, but never fails to appear before a death occurs in the Townshend family. Many persons declare that they have seen the ghost. The late Lady Anne Sherson used to relate that she was once at Houghton on the occasion of a ball and was surprised to see a small lady in antique dress passing through the throng of guests without speaking to any one. Many of the other guests also saw her and inquired who she was, but the strange lady vanished before she could be questioned. The next morning they heard of the death of Lord George Townshend, and all then knew that it was the ghost of Lady Dorothy who had passed through the ballroom.

Englishmen like castles and country houses with ghosts to them—it is a mark of "first chop" society to have a family ghost—but they do not want the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York to be kept awake nights by the antics of the dead and gone Lady Dorothy Walpole; hence their anxiety as to the present activity of the Houghton ghost.—New York Press.

On the Golf Links.

Sometimes in nice weather, says a pedestrian, I sit modestly on the fence and regard the golfers. I have learned from this not how to play golf, but how to look while playing it. Here are a few simple rules:

First.—If your hair is good, play bareheaded, but if bald wear a hat.

Second.—In swatting the ball don't forget to stand knockkneed, one foot erect on the toe and perpendicular to the turf.

Third.—Roll up your sleeves if your forearms can stand it.

Fourth.—Swearing at play is bad form, though an occasional swear word, particularly from a woman, has rather a pleasant, humorous sound.

Fifth.—Consult the legs in the matter of breeches, remembering always that fat legs are worse than thin ones since the pneumatic stocking's arrival.

Sixth.—Use a singing, staccato voice in addressing the caddie.

Seventh.—Resting the handle of the stick on the green, pretend every fifteen minutes to chalk your cue. This joke takes well with the caddie.—Minneapolis Journal.

A Royal Train.

One of the most elaborate of royal trains is that belonging to Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria. It is composed of eight corridor cars, and to the minutest detail is perfect in every respect. It is lighted by electricity, and the kitchen is equipped with electricity for cooking. The carriages are so hung that they will fit to any gauge of tracks, and so shaped and fitted with folding entrance steps that they can pass through the narrowest defiles in Italy or Belgium, says Woman's Life.

The emperor's sleeping room is equipped with his own field bed, without which he never travels; a marble washstand with silver faucets, wardrobes, clothes presses and a folding writing table.

The emperor's private saloon is entered through his sleeping room. The walls are decorated in olive, the furniture is of olive green and the curtains and portieres are of harmonizing colors.

Lord Derby and Boralma.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 2.—Secretary Horace Wilson, of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association, has been authorized by Thomas W. Lawson to issue a challenge to Harry Hamlin for a match race at Lexington between Lord Derby and Boralma for $5,000 a side, winner to take all. The race between Cresceus and Charley Herr has been declared off.

NICOLAY AND LINCOLN.

Career of the Martyred President's Private Secretary.

AN INTIMATE PERSONAL FRIEND.

In Collaboration With John Hay, Now Secretary of State, He Wrote the "Life of Abraham Lincoln." Accompanied the President on His Memorable Journey to Washington.

The late John G. Nicolay, private secretary to President Lincoln and an intimate personal friend of the great emancipator, was a resident of Washington since 1872, much of his time having been given to writing. In collaboration with John Hay, now secretary of state, he wrote the "Life of Abraham Lincoln."

John George Nicolay was born in the village of Essingen, in Rhenish Bavaria, Germany, Feb. 26, 1832, the son of Jacob and Helena Nicolay. In 1838 the Nicolay family emigrated to America, making their home first in Cincinnati, O. From there they moved successively to Indiana, Missouri and Illinois. During this moving young Nicolay received elementary instruction in the schools of Cincinnati and St. Louis. His school days in these two cities covered a period of about two years, but during that time the lad obtained tuition in German and English, as the two languages were taught together. By the death of his parents when he was about 14 years old young Nicolay was thrown entirely on his own resources, and he became a clerk in a small retail store.

This occupation did not suit him, however, and when he was sixteen he started to learn the trade of a printer in the office of The Free Press, a county paper published weekly at Pittsfield, Pike county, Ill. He remained with The Free Press for about eight years, and while connected with this country sheet he laid the foundation for his future literary career.

Mr. Nicolay acquired a reputation as an editor which lasts even to the present day in Pike county. He was a forceful writer and soon became a political power in his part of the state. He received flattering offers from the newspapers of Chicago and St. Louis, but preferred to continue in his independent capacity as the editor of his own paper. During the famous campaign between Lincoln and Douglas Mr. Nicolay took sides with Lincoln and laid the foundation for his close friendship with the great emancipator, which lasted until the tragic death of Lincoln.

At the close of the Fremont and Dayton campaign in 1856 Mr. Nicolay sold his paper and became a clerk in the office of the secretary of state at Springfield, Ill. He remained in this position until 1860, and during this time his friendship with Lincoln ripened into the closest intimacy. When Lincoln was nominated for the presidency, he appointed Nicolay his private secretary. After the election the correspondence of Mr. Lincoln increased so much that an assistant became necessary, and Mr. Nicolay chose for this position John Hay, the present secretary of state, who was then a young law student in Springfield.

When Lincoln made his memorable journey to Washington in the spring of 1861, both Mr. Nicolay and Mr. Hay accompanied him. During the first presidential term they occupied the same room at the White House together, performing the laborious and often delicate duties which fell to them and enjoying the closest confidence of President Lincoln. During this time they formed the plan, with the approval of Mr. Lincoln, of writing his biography, which design they carried out later in collaboration.

After the beginning of his second term, and shortly before his assassination, the president appointed Mr. Nicolay United States consul at Paris and appointed Mr. Hay secretary of the American legation in the same city. They had not, however, entered upon their new duties before Mr. Lincoln's death occurred. Mr. Nicolay held the office of consul at Paris until the spring of 1869.

Mr. Nicolay and Mr. Hay began the active work of writing their biography of Lincoln in 1874, although they had spent the previous six years in gathering and arranging their material. Its serial publication under the title "Abraham Lincoln, a History," was begun in The Century Magazine in November, 1886, and continued until February 1890. In the latter year the complete work, with many important chapters not included in the serial publication, was issued in ten volumes and achieved a permanent place in American historical literature. Of the joint work each author is said to have written about half, and concurrently also they collected, catalogued and edited "Abraham Lincoln's Complete Works," which were published in 1894.

In addition to this great task Mr. Nicolay wrote in 1881 "The Outbreak of the Rebellion," it being the first volume of a series entitled "Campaigns of the Civil War." Mr. Nicolay also wrote the article on President Lincoln in the Encyclopædia Britannica and has contributed numerous articles to American magazines.

All of Mr. Nicolay's accomplishments and tastes were of a high order. He had patented many inventions, was a lover of art and music, an accomplished linguist and a poet of unusual merit. Of the many achievements of his life he, however, derived the greatest satisfaction from having earned Mr. Lincoln's friendship and trust, as well as of having, in collaboration with Mr. Hay, carried out the design of writing the biography of the great president.

HELD HIM FOR MURDER

Daniel Romaine Must Answer in a Columbus Court.

HE WAS RELEASED ON BAIL

The Man Who Struck Down Benjamin Dile is Heartbroken, But Will Be Prosecuted.

Daniel Romaine, the Columbus waiter who it is believed is responsible for the death of Benjamin Dile, a former Jackson township man, has been held on a general charge of murder.

When arraigned in police court Romaine showed great distress because of the affair, and the hearing was postponed until today. It will be for the purpose of deciding the specific charge to be made against Romaine. He was released on $2,000 bond.

He claims he was acting in self defense when he knocked Dile down in Lyon's restaurant. The autopsy showed that Dile died as the result of a blood clot at the base the brain, and the supposition is that this injury was sustained when Dile's head struck the floor as the result of the blow.

Funeral services over the body were held at the residence of his son on North Ninth Tuesday, and the remains were interred in the cemetery at Blooming Grove, near his old home, in Jackson township.

FIGHTING SAN JOSE SCALE.

Method of Applying a Government Preparation Found to Be Useful.

A number of inquiries have come to the Arnold arboretum in Boston, as the chief center of tree study in the United States, as to the best methods of getting rid of the San Jose scale. Fortunately the arboretum seems to be free from the pest, and the director, Professor Charles S. Sargent, says that it has not been necessary for his assistants to study it with the care that has been devoted to its habits at several of the state agricultural stations. Mr. Jackson Dawson, however, the superintendent and head gardener of the arboretum, has recently given some advice as to the best method of applying one of the standard government preparations for exterminating the scale which seems likely to be generally useful.

The preparation referred to is that recommended for an uncertain climate liable to rains and showers and is as follows: "Whale oil or fish oil soap, preferably made with potash lye, is dissolved in water by boiling at the rate of two pounds of soap to a gallon of water. It is applied hot, and on a moderately warm day in winter it can be put on the trees with an ordinary spray pump.

Mr. Dawson suggests February and March as the best months for this soap treatment and as the most thorough means of applying it an ordinary flat paint brush, with which every part of the infected tree should be gone over. The brush, Mr. Dawson says, is usually more effective than the spray in all similar applications, but it should be followed later, perhaps just before the budding of the tree, by a thorough syringing with the same wash made up in about half the usual strength. In midsummer a still more diluted wash, perhaps ten gallons of water to a pound of soap, may be serviceable against the scale and by the addition of a teaspoonful of paris green to a gallon of water be made an effective general insecticide.

It has been announced that an attempt is being made to find a parasite of the scale in Japan for use in infected districts in this country, and it is interesting in this connection to learn that the American scientists who have gone there with this idea in mind have found the Japanese using the brush in just the same way as has been recommended by Mr. Dawson.

LATEST THING IN SALUTES.

Three Simple Movements Noted In a New Street Greeting.

Just now the cut of men's clothes so much in vogue because it is intended to give a man with any sort of a shape or even no shape at all a military, athletic looking appearance has introduced with it a new way of greeting your male friends. It is a sort of modification of the military officer's salute and is very easy to learn and makes a distinguished and graceful salute.

It is also the very latest, and so if you wear your clothes cut in the latest fashion you of course must not neglect learning it. In making this salute you must bear in mind that you are to salute with the hand that is opposite to the person you wish to greet. Thus, if he is to pass you on your left you use the right hand, and if he passes you on your right you must employ the left hand.

The salute, according to the Chicago Record-Herald, consists of these three simple movements: First, when the person is about seven paces away you throw either the right or the left arm, as the case may be, easily and gracefully up in front of you, so the upper arm is perpendicular to the body and the forearm is obliquely across the body so that the fingers touch the rim of your hat near the front and center of the face; the hand is open, the palm being nearest the face, and the fingers are close together and slightly bent, with the thumb hidden by being in front of the first finger and nearest the face. Second, you incline slightly, and remove your hand about four inches in front of your face. Third, when the person has passed you, you straighten up and throw your arm smartly at the side. You may then continue your walk possessed of the gratified feeling of having been strictly "in the mode" and of having greeted your friend with a natural, graceful salute.

NEW MARINE MARVEL.

Interesting Facts About the Kronprinz Wilhelm.

CONTAINS ALL CONVENIENCES

Latest Addition to the North German Lloyd Transatlantic Fleet Is Equipped With the Most Perfect Arrangements For Safety and Splendid New Technical Improvements.

The twin screw express steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd company was built by the Vulcan Shipbuilding company of Stettin, Germany, and was intended for a record breaker to compete against the famous Hamburg-American line steamer Deutschland, built by the same shipbuilders, says the New York Times. The dimensions of the Kronprinz Wilhelm are: Length, 663 feet, 5½ feet shorter than the Deutschland; beam, 66 feet, 1 foot less than that ship; depth, 43 feet, 1 foot less than the champion, whose record she will try to break.

In gross tonnage the Kronprinz Wilhelm registers 15,000 as against the Deutschland's 16,000 tons and in displacement 21,000 as against 23,000 tons. In motive power the Kronprinz Wilhelf is equipped relatively with about the same power as that which drives the present champion, the actual figures being in the case of the newer steamer two quadruple expansion engines of 33,000 horsepower each as against the same engines of 35,000 horsepower each. Steam in each case is furnished by twelve double and four single end boilers.

In appearance the Kronprinz Wilhelm closely resembles the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the Deutschland, there being two masts and four smokestacks. The accommodations for the first cabin passengers are placed amidships on the main, the upper and the promenade decks. Four cabines de luxe, composed of sitting room, bedroom and bathroom, and eight apartments, consisting of bedroom and bathroom, have been provided.

Particular attention has been paid in the construction of this vessel to the adoption of the most advanced and perfect arrangements for safety. A double bottom, that extends nearly the entire length of the steamer, is divided into twenty-four water tight compartments, besides which the entire hull is separated into seventeen water tight compartments by fifteen transverse bulkheads that extend to the upper deck and by a longitudinal bulkhead in the engine room. To these safety arrangements should be added a large and extensive pumping plant of the most varied description, fire extinguishing apparatus of every kind and a full equipment of boats, of which the steamer carries twenty-four.

The dining room contains 414 seats. The prevailing tone of the panel work of the room is green, relieved by bronze paneling on the walls. The ceiling is decorated with allegorical paintings representing the seasons, day and night, etc. The subjects of the paintings on the walls are the house in which the crown prince, for whom the boat is named, lives, the former palace and the cadet school in Plon where the crown prince received his education. Adjoining the main dining room there are forward and aft on each side extensions of this dining room, forming, as it were, small dining rooms.

A large vestibule on the promenade deck opens into the social hall above the dining room, which shows at one end the life size portrait of the German Crown Prince Wilhelm. The walls of this social hall are covered with fine silk brocade and with pictures of Prussian cities. The social hall is provided with comfortable sofas and easy chairs.

The library is decorated in renaissance style. The seats are upholstered with mignonette colored velour de Genes. The table covers are decorated with embroidery, and the curtains consist of gold silk. Smyrna carpets cover the floors of both the social hall and the library. The ceiling and the walls are decorated with paintings representing the muses.

The Kronprinz Wilhelm contains a number of remarkable new technical improvements. An extensively ramified telephone service connects the captain on the bridge with the chiefs of the various departments of the steamer. The chief steward is provided with an office similar to the office of a modern hotel, where the public can secure information on matters pertaining to their tickets, baggage, rooms, etc. Special attention has been paid to the housekeeping features of the steamer. The refrigerating rooms for every species of provisions are most extensive and are kept at a certain temperature by ice machines. In the staterooms the passengers will find every convenience for their comfort. The apartments de luxe are connected with the chief steward's office by telephone. Ascent to the crow's nest of the Kronprinz Wilhelm is not on the outside of the mast on a ladder, but inside the mast, and the crow's nest itself is connected with the bridge by a speaking tube. All the clocks on the steamer, in the dining rooms, in the vestibules, in the kitchen, etc., are electrically regulated from a central clock in the chartroom.

The Kronprinz Wilhelm is provided with an apparatus for wireless telegraphy.

It Happened in a Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked me for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. B. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." The remedy owes its great popularity and extensive sale in a large measure to the personal recommendations of people who have been cured by its use. For sale by C. E. Anderson, No. 2, Forbes block.

Came Near Dying.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diorrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely. I went to sleep and did not awake for eight hours. On awakening a few hours I felt so gratified that the first work I do on going to the office is to write to the manufacturers of this remedy and offer them my grateful thanks and say, "God bless you and the splendid medicine you make." This remedy is for sale by C. E. Anderson. 1m
